Single Touch Payroll - Information for employees

Single Touch Payroll is the ATO's latest compliance regulation that requires your employer to send employee payroll information to the ATO at the same time as they process a standard pay runs instead of at the end of financial year.

If your employer reports to the ATO through Single Touch Payroll, you will be able to see more up-to-date tax and super information through myGov after 1 July 2018.

What's changing for employees?

- Your employer will no longer need to provide you a payment summary at the end of financial year. Your payroll information will pre-fill in your tax return, making it easier and quicker to complete. If you get your tax returns done by an accountant or tax agent, they will also have access to this information.
- You will be able to log into your myGov account and get up to date access to your year-to-date superannuation, income, tax contributions and payments.
- The ATO receives payroll data in regular frequent intervals which helps to protect your employee entitlements e.g. Super Guarantee.
- More frequent payroll reporting can help prevent tax and welfare overpayments.

What do you need to do?

- Register for an account through myGov (if you haven't already). MyGov is a fast, simple way to access government services online. When you link your myGov account to the ATO, you can manage your tax and super in one place.

You can create an account or log in here.

- Make sure your myGov account and employer has your up-to-date personal information including:

- Full name
- Address
- Date of Birth
- Superannuation
- Date of Birth

- It's important that you notify your employer straight away if you think something doesn't look right with your year to date payment information.

For more information visit the ATO's STP employee page or contact your employer.
